Industrial towels

In today's industrial market many things are important to making your business run effectively. For industrial cleaning: absorption, strength, and cost effectiveness are very important. We offer many types of towels that can be used safely with various chemical solutions. Industrial towels have some features such as high pulp content for good absorbency, softness essential for delicate surfaces, and low lint presence to guarantee. No fibres are left behind during cleaning or polishing projects.

Industrial towels are strong and durable for industrial spills or cleaning and reportedly won't fall apart under any pressure. It is sensitive where required, such as in machines or equipment. And it is a ultimate biodegradable cleaning cloth. More substantial than the small wipe in size, weight. Same great features plus it is highly absorbent, easy to handle and will stand up to abuse. Throw it in a bleach bucket and it still looks great. Multiple uses with a simple rinse and hang to dry.
